Mrs. Oladele Williams-Oni, an architect narrated to an Ikeja High Court, Lagos, how she was scammed of #17 million by a shepherd in charge of the Celestial Church of Christ, Genesis Parish, Alagbado, Prophet Israel Ola Ogundipe.

The lady told the court that she entrusted the accused person with her money to procure some landed property on her behalf because she thought he was a “good pastor,” but was surprised that the prophet only made her to suffer in vain. She said, “He told me something about my husband in one of his prophecies, that I should not have anything jointly with him because he was having an affair behind my back. He gave me a liquid to drink and I started vomiting. I was asked to sit down and he lighted a candle and said I should be there until the candle goes off”

She said her misfortune started when she returned to London, the prophet asked her to invest identity theft. He was sentenced by Judge Ellen S. Huvelle in the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia. In addition to the prison term, the judge ordered Oladokun to pay restitution of $269,304.

According to government's evidence, once in possession of the victims' checks or credit cards, Oladokun and others engaged in financial transactions such as buying goods and services, depositing the bank checks into accounts opened in the names of other victims, cashing checks, and purchasing money orders.

The mastery of the Yoruba Language by American students is generating new concerns, that while many Nigerian parents in foreign lands no longer teach and speak their mother-tongue to their children, these young Americans are working towards obtaining their Bachelors of Art in the Yoruba Language.

The students are Lauren Halloran, Caraline Harshman, Kelvin Barry, Kelly Moses and O'Neil Keegan. Apart from studying the Language, they have adopted Yoruba names. Halloran is

Abike, Harshman is Titilayo, Barry has adopted Kayode, and Moses is Akinwunmi while Keegan's Yoruba name is Kolade. Yoruba Language is the language of about 40 million people living in the South West geopolitical zone of the most populous black nation on earth, Nigeria.
